About the University :

The Dravidian University was established by the Government of Andhra Pradesh through a Legislature Act (No. 17 of 1997) at Kuppam, a Trilingual junction in the southwestern part of Andhra Pradesh with the initial support extended by the Government of Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Kerala for an integrated development of Dravidian Languages, thus Paving way for cultural and emotional integration of all the regions that carry forward the ancient historical torch of the nation. The University Grants Commission recognized the University under section 2(f) in 1998 and section 12(b) in 2006 and Distance Education Council in 2008.

Objectives:

The foremost objective of the University is to develop integration among the Dravidian languages with different sub-groups and sects, so far enumerated as belonging to Dravidian languages. Only four of them are well developed with scripts and historical legacies. Among the rest, Tulu has considerable socio-economic advancement. The rest of the languages do not have a written tradition, though they have a rich oral tradition. Socially and economically, they are highly backward societies.

They are often categorized as 'tribes', some of them as 'primitive tribes' far away from the modern developments in scientific, technological and socio-economic areas.

Therefore, there is a great historic need and responsibility for the entire nation to equip them with necessary educational tools at all levels and modern perspectives of life effecting their socio-economic advancement on par with the other citizens of the nation at the same time duly preserving their culture identity, in other words our cultural roots. The richness of their knowledge and wealth of wisdom, which stand above all scripts and tongues, forming part of the glittering glory of the nation, have to be revitalized. In order to fulfill such cherished objectives, the Dravidian University Established.

The Specific Objectives of the University are:

1. To promote National Integration.
2. To work for an integrated development of Dravidian languages.
3. To promote Dravidian languages, culture and literature with an indigenous thrust.
4. To take up extension activities with an emphasis on rural development.
5. To encourage research inside and outside the country in Dravidian studies.
6. To translate books of other languages into Dravidian languages and the Dravidian languages books into other languages.

Directorate of Distance Education (DDE) :

The Dravidian University, as part of its extension activities, has started the Directorate of Distance Education to cater to those who have not had the opportunity of pursuing higher studies in regular mode.
